NOBLES' REVENGE.

HE GOT EVEN WITH THE AUTHOR OF THE SPECIAL DELIVERY STAMP.

The Actor's Letter of Congratulations to Postmaster General Vilas Withdrawn For Sufficient Reasons, Which Appear In This Story.

The man who awakens from a deep sleep, just in time to ward off the blow of an assassin, who, knife in hand, is preparing to drive it into his heart, has had a narrow escape. There are thousands of grateful men who have aroused themselves from the lethargy of recklessness and neglect, just in time to ward off the deadly assault of that dread enemy of mankind—consumption.

The weapon with which these men have successfully combated this grim destroyer has been Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the only known medicine that will prevent and cure consumption. Taken in time, it will always ward off this deadly disease, and even after the devastating germs have attacked the lungs, it will cure 98 per cent of all cases. It acts directly on the lungs, building up new, healthy tissues and driving out all disease germs. It corrects all stomach and digestive troubles, invigorates the liver and makes the appetite keen and hearty. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. There is nothing else "just as good" and the druggist who says so is untrustworthy.

"I was a sufferer for five or six years from indigestion, sore stomach, and constant headaches," writes B. F. Holmes, of Gaffney, Spartanburg Co., S. C. "I tried several of the best remedies, and in particular, Dr. Pierce's, recommended by Mr. J. R. Tolleson, a friend of mine. I commenced on the 28th September, 1895, to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets—which gave me relief in a few days. Since then I have used five bottles of Golden Medical Discovery, five bottles of Pellets, which I commenced using as the medicine said. I could not sleep, had a restless uneasy feeling at the time, and my skin was yellow and dry. I weighed only 143 pounds. I now weigh 176 pounds, have a good appetite, can eat anything I wish, for two years, without any advice given by a physician, I can do nothing but Graham bread."

In reference to the above letter, J. R. Tolleson, P. O. Box 171, Gaffney, Spartanburg Co., S. C., writes: "The above Mr. B. F. Holmes, is a good Christian gentleman, and one whose word will go a long way. I should have known him, as Dr. Pierce's medicines, and I recommended them to Mr. Holmes."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure that disease-producing disorder, constipation. They never fail. They never gripe. Drug-gists sell them.

TIMING BIG PROJECTILES.

How Their Initial Velocity Is Calculated
In Tests at Sandy Hook.

To the layman one of the interesting features in a big gun test is the method by which the initial velocity of the projectiles is calculated. When he hears that the modern high power guns often expel a shot at an initial velocity of 2,000 feet a second, a ratio that if sustained would mean a mile in three seconds, he realizes the difficulty of calculating the speed. An ordnance officer must have accurate knowledge of the velocity of a projectile, that he may predict its range and penetration and determine the accuracy of the gun. It is a comparatively easy matter, however, with the new instruments to calculate accurately the initial velocity of a projectile, and any one who is fortunate enough to visit Sandy Hook when big guns are being tested may see how it is done.

Two open frames are set up 150 feet apart in front of the gun. Wires are stretched back and forth across these frames, making a screen through which the shot must pass. The wires in each screen form a complete electric circuit, which includes also an electric battery and an electro magnet. The projectile, after leaving the gun, flies through the wire in the first screen, interrupting the circuit and releasing the armature of the magnet. In a space of time so small as to be hardly conceivable the projectile has covered the distance between the two frames and pierced the wire in the second, interrupting its electric current and releasing the armature of its magnet, as in the first case. The interval between the drop of these two armatures represents the time spent by the projectile in traveling 150 feet. This time is indicated by the chronograph in the laboratory near by. Wires run from each screen to the laboratory, which is fitted up with batteries and switchboards.

The armature of the first electro magnet is an iron rod about 3 feet long, which is suspended vertically. This rod falls when the second electro magnet is placed a little below the first, and when it is released it acts as a knife, and striking the side of the falling rod, makes a slight mark. The distance of this cut or mark from the end of the rod indicates the distance through which the rod has dropped while the projectile is passing from one screen to another. This forms the unit for the calculation of the projectile's velocity in feet per second. New explosives and high power guns have increased the initial velocity of projectiles wonderfully in the last few years. Projectiles may be expelled now with a force that will make them effective at a range far beyond ordinary eyesight.—New York Sun.

Roman Epicure.

When at its zenith, the Roman empire laid all the barbaric countries of the world under contribution to supply the tables of its nobles and wealthy citizens with the fine luxuries of life. Asia and Africa poured in the rich spices and fruits of the tropics; Germany and the great north countries raised the grains and wild berries; Italy and the fertile land of the Franks cultivated the vineyards to make or express the wines; every strip of seacoast from the Mediterranean to the Baltic contributed its quota of fish, and the forests of Brittany yielded the wild game of the woods—birds, beasts and fowls—for the banquets of the proud, dissolute rulers of the vast empire. With the choice products of a great world so easily obtained there were wanton waste, foolish extravagance and a strange disregard of the value of expensive luxuries, and the historian dwelling upon these times delights in recapitulating the various articles of diet arranged in tempting manner upon the groaning tables at the great feasts and banquets.

"The obnoxious stamp has not been called in, but I had my revenge on the postmaster general!"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

But, excepting Nero's dish of peacock tongues and Cleopatra's cup of wine with the dissolved pearls in it, the menu of our modern banquets would compare favorably with those spread in the times when gluttony, licentiousness and greed for luxury were insidiously sapping the strength of Rome.—George E. Walsh in Lippincott's.

CURED

For several years I have been troubled with backache and those distressing bearing down pains so well known to women. In addition, I suffered from weakness of the kidneys and occasional pains in my sides. I could better explain my complaint if I was talking face to face with one of my own sex than to write it. Everything I tried to relieve my pains failed to help. I recently heard that your Sparagus Kidney Pills were curing such cases as mine, and I bought a box of Mr. Danforth, the druggist. After using them a few days my pains began to disappear, and now I am feeling very much stronger than before, and believe I never was healthier than I am at present. I am glad I heard of your pills, and wish every woman suffering as I did could hear of how they helped me.

The Paper of the Oxford Bibles.

The paper making for Oxford Bibles is a specially important and interesting part of the work. At Wolvercote, a mile east out of Oxford, the university has a large mill for the supply of its own requirements. A good deal of the paper they turn out here is made out of old ships' sails, the materials of which, after battling with storms in all quarters of the world, come here for the purpose of being made into paper, printed in almost every language under heaven and bound up into volumes to be again scattered far and wide into all the uttermost ends of the earth.

This Wolvercote paper mill has much to do with the great reputation that Oxford has acquired in the production of Bibles and other devotional books. Twenty years ago and more the management here hit on a valuable invention in paper making, and ever since their "India paper" has been the envy and the puzzle of manufacturers all over the kingdom. There are said to be only three persons living who know the secret of its make, and though the process has never been legally protected and all the world is free to imitate the extremely thin, but thoroughly opaque and wonderfully strong and durable paper of the best Oxford Bibles if they only knew how, all the world has hitherto failed to do so.

It is as thin as tissue, but perfectly opaque and so strong that a strip of it three inches wide has proved to be capable of sustaining a quarter of a hundredweight. Over 160 works and editions are now printed on this paper. This special advantage has very largely helped Oxford to retain the leading position which it originally gained by being nearly the first, if not quite the first, printer of books in the kingdom and by the prestige of its name.—Chambers' Journal.

Lioness and Puppy.

Here is a tale of a strange animal friendship told by a writer in a recent issue of The Westminster Gazette. The story is unique. According to the writer, a lioness that was kept in captivity in Somaliland adopted a bull terrier. There were several bull terrier puppies near the place where she was confined, and once in awhile the little fellows would come close to the cage. Then she would snarl, and the puppies would scamper back, but there was one that seemed to have the good will of the lioness, for one day when he approached the cage, instead of growling, she showed signs of pleasure.

The puppy was encouraged, and after blinking at the lioness he walked boldly in. To the surprise of the keeper, who was expecting to see the puppy quickly killed, the lioness stretched out her huge paw and gently drew the dog in. The little fellow was delighted with his reception, and he snuggled into her warm fur and has remained with her ever since. The curious thing is that the lioness will have nothing to do with the other puppies. If they come to the cage to see how their little brother is getting along, she growls at them in tones so loud and menacing that they are frightened off. Meanwhile the adopted puppy is treated by the lioness just as if he were a cub of her own.

A Weathercock Made by Paul Revere.

In taking down the steeple of the old Methodist church in Watertown, which the Young Men's Catholic association is remodeling for its use, the 160-year-old weathercock on top of the steeple had to be removed. It is 2½ feet tall with a pewter body and copper tail, and is said to have been made by Paul Revere when at 20 years old. It is said that the weathercock was originally placed in 1775, on the old church building that was demolished in 1877. There is some dispute about his ownership the Unitarians claiming that he was simply loaned to the Methodist, when the latter built their church in 1847, while the Methodists claim that they bought him from the town. He will probably be presented to the Watertown Historical society.—Boston Transcript.

LAWFUL MONEY OF THE UNITED STATES.

A correspondent asks, "What is lawful money or have we any such money at the present time?" It is difficult to answer this question simple as it seems. We have various kinds of money, but under our present financial system the creditor has the option of determining what lawful money is. The law makes greenbacks or government notes a legal tender for all debts, public and private, except duties on imports and interest on the public debt. Silver certificates are a legal tender for interest on the public debt and duties on imports, although those certificates are invariably redeemed in standard dollars, while greenbacks are as invariably redeemed in gold. Silver dollars of 412½ grains of standard silver are a legal tender for all obligations of the United States and were so declared to be by both Houses of Congress when the Matthews' resolution was adopted.

But the rule seems to be to-day with money-lenders to defuse what legal money is, regardless of the law. One makes all obligations due him payable in gold coin; another makes his notes payable in standard dollars, and a third may insist on having all notes made payable to him in greenbacks.

When President Cleveland was suing bonds to replenish the gold in the reserve fund an attempt was made to pass an Act of Congress making government bonds redeemable in gold.

Powerful as the gold trust was it could not get the bill through Congress, and all government obligations are payable in gold or standard dollars, at the option of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The Legislature of Nevada passed an act making all loans and undertakings, and also all obligations of debt, judgments or executions stated in terms of dollars and to be paid in money, payable in either the standard silver or gold coins or other legal money authorized by the Congress of the United States. The creditor, therefore, who nominates in the bond the kind of money in which it shall be redeemed, not the law-making power, determines what is lawful money of the United States.

INNOCENTS ABROAD.

The New York World gives a list of American millionaires who have hired balconies and houses in London to witness the procession at Victoria's Jubilee. Among them are the Vanderbilts, the Astors, the Goulds, the Golets, the Carnegies, the Belmonts, the Colgates, of soap fame, and ex-Vice President Morton. The aggregate wealth of those people amounts to nearly $700,000,000. They have planned for a series of brilliant entertainments which will cost from $10,000 to $50,000 each, and it is estimated that they will spend many millions during their stay in London. In addition hundreds of the smaller fry from the United States will visit London during the Jubilee and swell the outlay to a considerable extent.

These are the people who want money that Europe is anxious to get hold of and who vote against an American financial system that is not approved by the money kings of Europe.

In view of the near approach of the Queen's Jubilee, the streets of London are being transformed into one vast amphitheatre. Seats are being placed on the sloping sides of the roofs of churches, on the tops of and in the space between adjoining houses and in fact in every conceivable place. Carpenters are receiving the unprecedented wages of $5 and $6 per day and every man that can handle a hammer and saw, is given immediate employment.

Already six miles of the streets are lined with raised seats, shutting out the view of residences, stores and public buildings. Decorations of an elaborate character are being prepared. Business, generally, is being suspended and everyone is taking a hand at preparing for the immense concourse of people expected to be present at the Jubilee.

Ohio is the mother of Presidents, but Queen Victoria is the mother of kings. The good old lady in the ordinary course of nature will have among her immediate descendants the future rulers of Germany, Russia, Greece and Roumania. It is possible that the Turks, if let alone, may interfere and prevent her great grand son from wearing the Grecoan crown, but it is quite improbable.

The Senators who were on the inside in formulating the sugar schedules and took advantage of their knowledge to increase their bank accounts do not desire an investigation and are determined that there shall not be any if it is in their power to prevent it. Even Tillman with his pitchfork cannot compel the Senate Committee to act on his resolution.

It appears that the Hawaiian Islands are to be annexed to the United States but whether they are to be admitted as a territory or a county of California has not yet been definitely settled. There are about 86,000 inhabitants on the islands, of whom about 7,000 are white and the rest natives, Chinese and Japanese.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

The Hawaiian Commissioners, Secretary Sherman and Assistant Secretary Day and Calder, assembled in conference at the State Department at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and began a careful comparison of the Hawaiian treaty.

The treaty was signed at 9:20 by Secretary Sherman for the United States and Messrs. Hatch, Thurston and Kinney for Hawaii. The document was submitted to the Senate yesterday.

The treaty provides that the island shall cede to the United States absolutely and forever all rights of sovereignty in and over Hawaii Island and its dependencies, and that these islands shall become an integral part of the territory of the United States.

The government of Hawaii also cedes public lands, public buildings and public property of every description. Congress shall enact special laws to govern the disposition of lands of the Hawaiian Islands.

The Hawaiian Islands shall be admitted into the Union as a territory of the United States, local laws to be passed by the local Legislature, but subject to the approval of the President. The present treaties and laws governing Hawaii's commercial relations with foreign countries shall remain in force until Congress shall take action.

The further immigration of Chinese laborers is prohibited, pending Congressional action. The entry of Chinese from Hawaii into the United States is likewise prohibited.

The United States assumes the public debt of Hawaii, but with the stipulation that this liability shall not exceed $4,000,000.

The treaty, before it becomes effective, shall be ratified by the proper authorities of the United States and Hawaii.

The Japanese government has filed a protest against the Hawaiian treaty on the ground that it promises to lead to a breach of the treaty stipulations between Japan and Hawaii.

The Senate yesterday agreed to the rates on agricultural products as fixed by the Republican members of the Finance Committee, notwithstanding the efforts by Democrats to have them reduced. The rates on fish were also adopted.

An amendment on fruits by Jones of Arkansas was rejected.

Much interest was manifested over the announcement that the Hawaiian annexation treaty had been signed and would be received by the Senate. Already the forces are preparing for the contest over ratification which it is well understood will be stubbornly waged from the beginning.

The friends of the treaty say there will be a decided effort to secure ratification during the present session of the Senate, and go so far as to say they will not even wait upon the tariff bill.

Senator Perkins of California, although a Republican, announced that he would oppose the consideration of the treaty at the present session.

Evidence of hostility to immediate consideration is becoming quite apparent from several directions.

C. D. Collins, a wealthy Tennesseean, was persuaded by M. Easley, a man whom he had known since boyhood, to accompany him to a suburb of St. Louis, Mo., on Tuesday night. Upon reaching a secluded place he was struck on the head with a hammer and his pockets rifled of $6,000 in bills by Easley, who handed the money to an accomplice and both disappeared. Two men witnessed the assault and robbery and gave the alarm. It is believed Collins will die.

Bombs are being discovered in Paris and one was exploded yesterday afternoon in front of the Strasburg statue on the Place de Laco. Several arrests have been made but only one man detained in custody.

Frank Butler, the notorious Australian murderer, was convicted yesterday at Sydney. He attempted suicide, but was prevented. He fought his keepers like a wild beast and was with difficulty subdued.

Heavy gales are prevailing off the north of England and Scotland. The cities of Glasgow and Liverpool have suffered much damage and shipping has been crippled considerably.

George Eustice Brown, one of the founders of the Morning Call and for many years its managing editor, died at San Francisco yesterday, aged 70 years.

Dazel Noble, one of the most noted crooks of modern times, was arrested in New York Tuesday. A pal squealed on him and the police run him down.

The heat at Chicago is reported as intense. One death and one prostration which will result fatally occurred yesterday.

THE Atchinson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company has been robbed of thousands of dollars by carrying on the pay rolls the names of dead men and fictitious persons. One high official has been discharged and others will probably follow, and it is expected that criminal proceedings will be commenced against them.

The President has decided to let the Spaniards keep on butchering the Cubans until Mr. Hanna decides who shall be Minister to Spain and the man whom he chooses is at his post. Hanna must be satisfied regardless of consequences to Cuba or the country.

Miss Josie Barnes, after a year's absence in California, returned home yesterday morning.

Just a Difference in the Price.

The composer Henry Smart played an organ in a London church, and his recital after church excited much attention, but one morning after a lecture from one of Mozart's masses a church warden came into the organ loft and begged to inform Mr. Smart that they had decided that they could not have such jiggly stuff played in their church.

"Very well, sir," was the answer.

"It shall be altered."

On the next Sunday dirge-like sounds proceeded from the organ, and the church warden congratulated the player on the solemn and elevating effect of the music.

"I am glad you like it," answered Mr. Smart. "Doubtless if I played it a little quicker you will see the reason it affected you." And, suiting the action to the word, the popular strains of "Jump Jim Crow," resounded from the organ.

After this Henry Smart played what he liked.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Liberty Engine Company of Gold Hill, Nev., which was organized in the year 1866, is about to disband. The Commissioners of Storey county have reduced the company's allowance from $35 to $20 a month, and the boys say they cannot maintain the fire company on this reduced amount.

A Few Olinghouse Canyon Mining Notes.

Fred Plane, Gus Dorsey, Fred Wamsley, and W. F. Brown have made a location paralleling the Oro and the location shaft has been sunk. It will be a surprise to us if they do not strike it rich. They are in lively looking rock carrying gold.

Over in the Black Joe they have ore, and work will commence in earnest very soon. All they have to do is to dig it out, it has been found all right and shows free gold.

There is ore in the tunnel on the South Butte, the tunnel is in 20 feet and the owners are letting it rest while they are out looking for a few more of those good things.

Richardson and Avery are prospecting daily on the limits and Richardson says he feels encouraged, and feels the extent of the gold field is not yet dreamed of.

There is ore on the various dumps now from the Homestake, the V. and the Jumper on the extreme east to the Crown Point on the west; from the Hutchinson No 2 and the Robert Fitzsimmons on the north to the Littlejohn discoveries on the south, an area of about four square miles, and they have hardly commenced yet, in our opinion.

Day after day, the boys find rock with free gold in it, and night after night, when they get into McClainesburg and "horn her out" they go wild with excitement. We hope every earnest worker there will reap a rich reward for his toil, and we verily believe every one of them will.

O. J. Smith told the reporter that he had mined for 25 years, had visited and worked in the principal mining countries and States on this continent and never saw in all his experience a more promising gold field than that of Olinghouse Canyon.

Among yesterday's visitors to the mines was Allen C. Bragg of the Gazette, C. T. Bender, and T. K. Stewart, the surveyor. That Mr. Bender should return within 48 hours of his first visit is significant, and he told the reporter his purpose was to purchase a claim.

Wm. Donaldson went up to the mines yesterday. He is interested in some properties there and is developing them. He, like everybody else, is happy over the outlook.

E. H. May must be rather a warm article, as a box of parlor matches in his vest pocket took fire and in a few minutes the brush near the tents and houses was in flames and McClainesburg suffered its first conflagration.—Dispatch.

At the Riverside—C. O. Hopkins of Ramberville; Mrs. R. M. Clarke, Carson; Mrs. I. W. Babcock, Wisconsin; B. J. Phillips, Sacramento; K. M. Hand and J. W. Spangler, San Francisco, and the Misses E. and V. Scoville and Alice Phillips of Susanville.

The prospective tourist travel to Lake Tahoe and other mountain resorts has encouraged the railroad company to cut out a sleeper at this point and it is now probable that a local sleeper will leave Reno on the west-bound train every evening.

Allen Bragg returned from his trip to Olinghouse canyon very much pleased with the prospects. He says riding on the blind baggage, however, ain't what it is cracked up to be. He held the platform of the car down as far as Clarke's Station before he could change his location and not having an overcoat along, says he nearly froze to death.

The Chosen Friends.

The members of the Chosen Friends held a literary and musical meeting concluding with a social dance last evening at Fraternal Hall in the Investment Co.'s new building. There was a large attendance and after the first part of the program had been completed the young folks took charge and altogether a merry and pleasant evening was passed.

Refreshments were served in due course of time and in the first hours of the morning the festivities broke up with the established opinion that the Chosen Friends of Reno were royal entertainers.

"9—If your lamp goes out take a feather out of the pillow; that's light enough for any room.

"10—Anyone troubled with a nightmare will find a halter on the bedpost.

"11—Don't pick a quarrel with the clerk. His brother is Chief of Police and his father the Mayor of the town.

"12—Don't worry about paying your bill. The house is supported by its foundation."

Weather Conditions Make Dull Times.

It was hoped by many yesterday that the heavy rain that prevailed would settle the weather for a while. For the past four or five days the winds and generally disagreeable weather has had a demoralizing effect on business. Few people venture out and then only those who are compelled to. Outside employment is almost entirely suspended and the streets are comparatively deserted as the farmers postpone their trading from day to day hoping for better weather.

The conditions for the past few days have had a depressing effect upon everything, and it has been an exceptionally dull week for this time of the year. With good weather improvements and building will progress and matters will pick up. The tourist travel to the lakes and to the northern country is quite a feature of itself, but disagreeable and threatening weather checks this immediately and the falling off in travel and patronage at the hotels is at once apparent.

Hon. F. H. Norcross accompanied by his mother to San Francisco yesterday. Mrs. Norcross' piano at the time of the Palace Bakery failure and she now sues for its recovery. Mr. Caulkin is only a party to the suit, as ex-Sheriff of the county. The case was presented and submitted. S. Summerfield appeared for plaintiff and Judge Webster for the defendant.

Justice's Court.

The case of Holman vs. Wm. Caulkin was before Justice Linn yesterday. The case grew out of an attachment of Mrs. Holman's piano at the time of the Palace Bakery failure and she now sues for its recovery. Mr. Caulkin is only a party to the suit, as ex-Sheriff of the county. The case was presented and submitted. S. Summerfield appeared for plaintiff and Judge Webster for the defendant.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison.

Headache, indigestion, constipation, dizziness, yield to Electric Bitters. Fifty cents and $1 per bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

NAVAL MISFITS.

We Make Too Much Fun and Sensation

Over Trifles.

We have a good navy, and we do not appreciate it. As a matter of fact, our admirals to our new admirals and cruisers have not been particularly frequent when their size and their use, or are considered. In this country, very trivial mischance brought upon us and exploited by the sensational newspapers, but nothing is said of similar accidents in foreign navies. During the destruction of Admiral Kimberly's fleet by the Samoa hurricane in 1880, which no

skill or foresight could have prevented, our naval service for many years has been remarkably free from really serious disasters.

There is nothing in our records to compare with the capsizing of the British frigate Captain with half a thousand men in 1870, or the fatal collision of the British ironclads Vanguard and Iron Duke in 1875, or that of the German ironclad Kaiser Wilhelm and Grosser

Kurfurst the year following, when 300 men perished, or the loss of the British training ships Eurydice and Atlanta in 1878 and 1880 with 600 officers, sailors and apprentice boys, or the sinking of the British flagship Victoria, with Admiral Tryon, 22 officers and 830 sailors, by collision with the Camp-eredown on June 22, 1893, in the Mediterranean, or the wreck of the Spanish cruiser Reina Regente, on March 10, 1895, with 420 officers and seamen.

The list of minor accidents to foreign naval vessels in the past few years would be too long to enumerate. But the stranding of the British ironclad

Hawke and Aulon, the flagship Amphion and the cruiser Sultan were far more grave affairs than any such accidents which have occurred to any of our own heavy vessels within this period. We have had our fair share of troubles, perhaps, but no more than that.—Boston
